The Gulf Stream is born following series of jam sessions during the summer and autumn of 2009 between Kodok and Archibald Singleton. Pressed by the possibility of playing with the CRUZ control crew on november 14th 2009, the duo geared up and played their first live set together. Almost exactly one year after this first experience, TGS releases its first album, Native's Mantra EP.

The EP comprise two original tracks and three remixes from friends and close music partners: Funky Falz, Florian MSK and Living~Stone. During their first year, the two associates shared the stage and played their original material with people like Dilemn (FR), Fulgeance (FR), Lunice (CA) during EMF at Rouyn Noranda, Technical Kidman (CA) and many more to come.

TGS's music can be defined by the merging of Kodok's organic synthesizers and subtle sounds and Singleton's keyboards, deep basses and rhythms, creating a rich and picturesque sound. Each track is like a landscape, as a waken dream or a told story.
